Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

MANSFIELD, O., October 30, 1874.

A. J. Heilman's hay press and buildings, near the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway depot, were entirely destroyed by fire last night. The loss is about eight hundred dollars, partially insured. The cause of the fire is not known, but is supposed to be incendiary.

Canfield, Ohio—$10,000.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

CANFIELD, OHIO, October 30, 1874.

About 2:15 this morning a fire broke out in the Eureka Hotel of this place, and destroyed the hotel, the large store of J. H. Bunnell, the bakery and grocery store of Harris Bros., the tenant house of H. C. Stauffer and the residence of C. D. Hollis. Nearly all the furniture was saved, but badly damaged. The fire originated from a defective flue in the hotel. The insurance on the property is not known. Loss about ten thousand dollars.

Alliance—$2,500.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

ALLIANCE, O., October 30, 1874.

A frame dwelling and a large barn, owned by R. C. Greenlee, near the college, was totally destroyed by fire about eight o'clock this evening. The loss is about twenty-five hundred dollars; insured in the Columbiana Mutual for $1,500. It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. One house, a twenty-five hundred-dollar business, which were in the barn, were burned. Mrs. Greenlee remained in the house until she had to be taken out from the upstairs window by a ladder.

Crestline—$1,500.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

CRESTLINE, O., October 30, 1874.

A house owned by John Sanders, in this place, caught fire this evening after the family had retired, and was entirely consumed, together with nearly the whole contents. The loss is about fifteen hundred dollars; insured in the Buckeye, of Springfield, for three thousand dollars. The fire caught from a defective flue.

North American Life Insurance Company—Change of Its Official Management.

Our Life Insurance friends and patrons will not be a little surprised at the announcement of the resignation of the officers of the North American Life Insurance Company of New York, and the election in their places of Henry J. Furber as President, John H. Bowley as Vice President, and George L. Montague as Secretary, the well known, experienced and efficient officers composing the Board of Managers of the Universal Life Insurance Company, also of that city.

The change in the administration of the North American not only secures all requisite additional assets to enable it to meet the requirements of the most rigid laws of any of the States, but also a board of officers composed of gentlemen of tried integrity, irreproachable character and personal responsibility, as well as experienced life underwriters, and is, therefore, in the interest of the insured.

It is intended, says the New York press, that the acceptance of the official management of the North America by the officers of the Universal Life shall not interfere with their official duties in the latter company, those affairs they will still continue to conduct with the same vigor and admitted executive ability which has characterized its administration since its organization, and has made it so preeminently conspicuous among our most trusted life insurance institutions.

The large and increasing business of the Universal Life has necessitated the procuring of additional office room accommodations. This has been provided for by the removal of its business to the spacious rooms in the building of the North America, which are abundant and large to accommodate both companies.

While the two companies will be under the same official management, we are assured that nothing of the character of a reinsurance of one company by the other is contemplated, except so far as the policy holders of one company may desire to change to the other; the rates of the Universal being about twenty per cent. less than the usual premium charged by mutual companies, under which system it has been pre-eminently successful, having over four million dollars assets, an annual income of $1,200,000, and over forty millions of dollars in amount of insurance in force.

This is the most important event that has happened for some time in life insurance affairs, and seems to us to indicate the best methods suggested to meet the evils arising from a too keen competition in life insurance business, combined with the unavoidable expenses attending a multiplicity of offices.

THE STATE FINANCES.

Another Disagreeable Dose for the Democracy.

[From the Philadelphia North American.]

The masterly style in which the finances of Pennsylvania have been managed whenever the Democrats were out of power, occasions to the organs of that party a world of trouble. They wriggle and twist in all sorts of ways to belittle the work of reduction of the State debt; quote the figures of 1873 instead of 1874; take the total of 1860 as the highest, when by that time the Whigs had at various times screwed it down from $42,000,000 to $37,930,847; but still they cannot get over the facts that the Democrats have always increased the debt when in power and the other party has always reduced it.

Taking one of the ingenious Democratic articles on the subject, let us call a few figures. Quoting from a statement in the Harrisburg Patriot (Dem.), we find that in the year 1855, the annual interest payment had reached $2,067,788 and from that point the Republicans gradually reduced it thus, omitting years:

Year.	Interest.
1864	2,435,578
1867	2,257,033
1868	1,970,000
1869	1,836,295
1870	1,804,811
1871	1,726,035
1872	1,706,032
1873	1,682,029
Total interest reduction	1,404,719

These figures are given as official, and taken from the report of the Auditor General. In 1873 the debt had been reduced to $25,788,821; in 1860 it was $37,925,847; so that in an era of unprecedented trouble the State debt was reduced by the Republicans $12,171,025, according to the statement published in the Patriot. That is not the whole story. If the statement had been brought down to the present time, the total reduction of the principal of the debt would be considerably over a million more. But the case is even stronger than this; for in these years the revenue was less than usual. In 1861 the revenue was $6,743,925, and it fell rapidly and heavily, and did not rise again to its normal condition until 1871, when it was $7,197,945; so that for a whole decade the Republicans had less revenue than usual with which to reduce the debt. To show this we quote the annual revenue for that decade:

	Revenue.
1861	$6,743,925
1862	5,211,747
1863	4,760,581
1864	4,783,313
1865	4,621,788
1866	5,829,633
1867	5,425,330
1868	5,216,629
1869	5,241,711
1870	6,935,036
1871	7,197,945

Now, during all this time, since the Democrats lost power in 1860, they have been raising a clamor about what they call the mismanagement of the State finances, and alleging defalcations, frauds, embezzlements, plunder, etc. If there were any truth in these charges, the natural inference would be that, as the Democrats never increased the debt when in power, and yet had more revenue to do it with, their wholesale, universal and persistent lying would be exposed, let them show what they did with the money, since it is beyond denial that they did not apply it to the reduction of the debt.

Perhaps we can save them the trouble. When they were in power the Whigs built the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, at a cost of $25,000,000, and the Democrats have been squandering the proceeds ever since. The State works were built, and the ascendency of the New York lines increased constantly. With the advent of the Republicans came a new policy. The State works were sold, the corruption fund destroyed, and as one of the blessings of the Commonwealth began to recuperate. Did the State lose by this in her material interests? Let any one who thinks so compare the splendid system of internal transit lines we now have with what we had under Democratic rule.

Now, as regards the policy of debt reduction, let us say a few words. In 1873 the principal of the debt was $2,586,870. From 1873 to 1874 the amount paid on interest was $26,105,804, and there can therefore be no doubt that since this debt was created we have paid interest on it again in full, and yet have been reproached as though we had not paid anything at all. If we had not reduced the debt at all from what it was in 1873 we should pay it in full regularly every thirteen years, and thus in fifty-two years we should have paid it four times over. All Democratic journals keep up a constant clamor about the surplus in the Treasury, and yet keep their readers ignorant of the fact that this surplus is produced by the steady reduction of the load of interest, and that the further the reduction goes the greater becomes the surplus. They say very truly that under Democratic rule there was no idle surplus, because in fact they increased the interest account instead of diminishing it. In ten years we can abolish the State debt if the Republicans remain in power.

BUTLER, PA.

The Judicial Contest Reviewed.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

BUTLER, PA., October 30, 1874.

MR. EDITOR:—In a recent number of the COMMERCIAL I noticed a reference to our political situation. There seems to be no real danger to our ticket. So far as we can judge, there is a determination on the part of Republicans to stand by the ticket. There can be nothing urged against any portion of it. The personnel of our entire ticket is unexceptionable, and it bids fair to be successful.

You are aware that we are having a lively time of it in our judicial canvass. This is owing to the fact that our worthy member of Congress has seen fit to disregard party usage and run as an independent candidate, after having been fairly defeated at the primaries. An ardent desire was felt, on the part of our party friends, that the judicial matter should be settled by mutual understanding. As Mr. McJunkin was already enjoying the confidence of our party, as our Representative at Washington, little fears were entertained that he would in any way interfere with the matter. But to avoid all trouble, Mr. McCandless consulted him as early as December last, and was assured that no difficulty would not be a candidate. This matters went on till after the formation of the district and the call for a continuation of our old district, with an additional tier of counties. Until then, when it was announced by the appointment of Mr. McCandless. This application was signed by most of our leading citizens, without consulting the wishes of the Republican voters, and would have continued to do so had it not been for the appearance of J. D. McJunkin, Esq., (nephew of his uncle). David. It will be remembered, represented Venango county in the Legislature a few years ago. While there he assisted to the speakership. All this conveys in the end. Harrisburg matters will recollect what a grand farce was made of the Speakership contest. Both parlors for the comfort of his friends. He put up a notice that his friends would meet in caucus at a certain hour to consult, &c. Fifteen persons presented themselves as friends, but of this number not more than nine were present. The rest were mere observers. To this array of friends he, in secret caucus, poured out his heart! He thanked them for their fidelity. He assured them that with them, in addition to the force he had outside, he was sure of success. When the party caucus was held he was called upon to vote. He declined to do so, hoping, no doubt, that it should prove close he might be able to carry off the fortunes of the day by voting for himself. When his opponent's name was called (Mr. Webb) he voted for Mr. McJunkin. Lo! Webb had more than three-fourths of the votes in the caucus. McJunkin wilted, and soon after sought to join hands with the Democrats to defeat the nominee. But in the end only he found few followers. His star soon fell, and ever since he has been looking for opportunities to disturb and distract the party.

Mr. McCandless was raised on a farm. He owes to his own honorable ambition and indomitable energy his great success as a lawyer. He comes from the common people. On the other hand, the McJunkin's claim to spring from a "noble blood." Our Congressman, whom David calls "my uncle," as has been well observed by one of your contemporaries, has become celebrated ed for his "silent eloquence and negative wisdom." He never would mingle with the people, but keeping a respectful distance, would look wise as he passed by. David could not bear to see an unassuming gentleman, like Mr. McCandless, go forward in honorable distinction while "my uncle" was available for the same place. So he wrote to his uncle that it was only necessary for him to allow the use of his name, &c. Accordingly, the name was submitted to the people. But it was soon found that more than his name was wanting. So his housekeeper was sent to Washington to bring him home and press him into the canvass. He accompanied her home, and finally took to the country and made a canvass of several weeks, allowing his seat to go unrepresented during the most important period of the last session of Congress. He was beaten in the race. David at once springs to the front again, ready for responsible management. He is declared a Republican candidate and the Citizen hoists his name as such. His friends seek a place on the Democratic ticket, but they are refused by the Convention. They next appeal to the Lawrence county Democracy, but they denounce them as intruders. Thus, at every step, their fond hopes of outside alliances vanish.

In the meantime, our District Conference is convened. Judge Mcmillin, the candidate in Lawrence county, invites both McJunkin and McCandless to send conferees. McJunkin inclines to do so. His organ, the Citizen, refuses to hoist any name save McJunkin's alone. Thus they drift from one degree of acute position to another, until to-day they are engaged in attempt to sell out the whole county ticket for votes for their Chief. They have affected to join hands with Bredin; tickets had been printed at the Citizen office of this character. A ticket headed "Republican" has been issued by his friends, with his name on, associated with all the rest of the Democratic ticket. The Democratic candidates, too, are circulating a ticket headed "Democratic ticket," on which the name of McJunkin is found, in place of Hon. John McMichael, of Lawrence county. McJunkin himself is engaged in distributing a ticket in which his name is associated with Woodward and Bredin. At this writing he is canvassing through Lawrence county, seeking support but finding none.

From last reliable accounts, I am assured that Lawrence county will give him (McJunkin) over 400 votes, while it will give the Democratic ticket (Bredin and McMichael) about 1,400 votes each, and McCandless and McGriffin about 2,300 each. McMichael, of Lawrence, is now canvassing our county, protesting against the perfidy of a few young men in Butler who are attempting to sell him out with a view of securing strength on other portions of the ticket, and are getting up quite a storm in the party, enough to wreak the basic bone of the coalition and save the bulk of the party from this demoralization. Thus passes away the last hope of this would-be Judge.

You no doubt that the Republican members four present Judges, McGuffin and McCandless,) will each receive over 6,000 votes in this district. This will put them beyond harm's way. "my uncle" will then be rounded back to Congressional duties, while he and his nephew (David), with the editor of the "Citizen," will have taken winter quarters up Salt River.

CASUALTIES.

Boiler Explosion at Lancaster, Ohio---One Killed and two Wounded---Loss $3,000.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

SYRACUSE, IND., October 30, 1874.

Yesterday evening, the boiler in the saw mill of Isaac Roders, at Lancaster, Owen county, Ohio, exploded with terrific noise, killing the proprietor's son Timothy. William, another son, was so badly injured that he is not expected to survive. A man by the name of George Biddle, who was loading lumber near by, was badly injured. The building was torn to atoms and fragments thrown in every direction. The boiler was blown into thousands of pieces, some of it being found half a mile away. The cause of the explosion is unknown. Some say it was caused from the boiler being coated with incrustence, produced by the use of hard water. The loss is about three thousand dollars.

Lutheran Sunday School Convention.

The National Lutheran Evangelical Sunday School Convention, in session at Johnstown, occupied the afternoon of Thursday in discussing the topics of publication and temperance. It was resolved to increase the capital stock of the Lutheran Publication House, at Philadelphia, one hundred thousand dollars, and recommended that all the Sunday Schools of the Church encourage this institution. A paper on uniting the Lutheran "Lesson Leaves," "Augsburg Teacher" and noted "Fatherland" series of books. During the night session the attendance was very large, many being unable to gain access to the church. The closing exercises of the Convention took place yesterday, and consisted of short valedictory addresses, interspersed with singing and prayer. The most interesting part in the proceedings was very great, and it is confidently hoped that great good may result from the labors of the Convention.

SECOND EDITION.

WASHINGTON.

VIRGINIA AND MARYLAND POLITICS.

Statue of Senator Baker by Horatio Stone.

Congressional Record to be Ready for Distribution by December First.

Special Dispatch to the Commercial.

WASHINGTON, D. C., October 30, 1874.

Richmond Congressional District.

J. Ambler Smith, at this late hour, decides to amble out from his bolting candidacy for Congress from the Richmond, Virginia, district. This will give Burgess, the regular Republican nominee, a fair show to carry the district.

An Offset in Maryland.

To offset this, however, there may be a lossof a Republican Congressman in the Cumberland district, in Maryland, through the pigheadedness of a few colored Republicans of that district in putting up a candidate of their own in opposition to Mr. Lowndes, the regular Republican candidate, because the latter did not vote for the Civil Rights bill. But for this split the Republicans would certainly carry the district, as the Democratic candidate, Walsh, is in a wrangle with the Chesapeake and Ohio Canal Company, which is a power in Maryland politics.

The Congressional Record.

The Government Printing Office has begun the issue of the volumes of the Congressional Record covering the first session of the Forty-third Congress. There are seven volumes, the index making one volume. Only the departments here have been supplied as yet, as the Government Printer has not yet determined the price at which the set can be furnished to the public. It is certain, however, that the price will be less than two dollars a volume. The proprietors of the Congressional Globe received five dollars per volume for their public edition, under the laws of the last session. The Government Printer pledged himself to charge the cost of the volumes and ten per cent. additional. He has found that the cost of printing is somewhat less than his original estimate submitted to Congress. The office is now at work upon the new edition of the statutes, which will be ready for the public by the first of December.

Senator Baker's Statue.

The rough draft of the marble statue of the late Senator Baker, of Oregon, who was killed in leading the forlorn hope on the disastrous field of Ball's Bluff, October 21, 1861, to be executed by Horatio Stone, by order of Congress, is expected to arrive soon from Italy. It is of the purest marble possible to be obtained. Upon its arrival Mr. Stone will give it the finishing touches, and by which the same time concealed the fact that my name was recorded in the negative according to the rules of the House; further, that in this very act I was extending a courtesy to a Democratic member which I constantly abused, and who did not wish to be misrepresented by an enemy.

It was equally of questionable propriety to withhold the information that the majority of those who did vote for Free Coal were Democratic, a portion of whom belong from his own State.

Messrs. Editors, I am moved by a reverence for the afflictions and mental distress of a perennial candidate for political honors, nevertheless, I did not believe he would "stoop to conquer."

Talk about "ways that are dark" in political campaigns; why, the very infamy of political trickery never compassed a design to contempt, ridicule and humiliating to a candidate for an honorable office.

While our attention is arrested by the proceedings of the 43d Congress, it will be proper to call attention briefly to the most significant chapter in the history of the gentleman from Ohio, and that is the vote to pass a joint resolution affirming the duty of the Congress to declare the Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth articles of Amendment to have been duly ratified; seventy-five Democrats are recorded in the negative, but not one Republican.

On the same day of bad legislation we find a Democrat introducing a bill to pay $300,000 to the heirs of General Lee for the Arlington estate, the place where there are entombed the remains of Richmond's rebel dead. In defence of the laws; seventy-four Democrats voted for the bill, one hundred and fifteen Republicans against it.

Mr. Hopkins betrays the same unfairness in speaking of the reduction of the tariff on coal. The resolution offered by Mr. Cox (Democratic Democrat from New York) was supported by sixty-three Democrats and eleven Republicans. These same gentlemen voted for Mr. Hale's resolution, to put coal and salt on the free list with like unanimity. And on Schenck's Tariff bill was passed, the negative vote was Democratic, with the exception of two Southern Republicans.

There is abundant warrant for saying that the Democratic party as represented in Congress is in favor of Free Trade and the Reciprocity Treaty with Canada, and only stand by its platform when it suits their purposes. Their action

The Commercial.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1874.

REPUBLICANS! Beware of "stickers" and "mixed tickets" on election day. The only safe plan is to vote the whole straight ticket.

THE memory of the Post is failing. It forgets that it indorsed the Free Trade platform of the Ohio Democracy as "thoroughly embracing the Democratic idea."

WHATEVER character the Democratic party may still possess is due to the dead rather than to the living. Like the potato plant, its best part is under ground.

THE Democratic press of Pennsylvania is profuse of capital advice on the subject of economy in the public expenditure, but it is flatly contradicted by the example of the party.

THE ebb tide has run out, and changed to the flood which is certain to lead to Republican victory—if it is well worked for during these few closing hours of the campaign.

IF YOU want the party back in power which piled up a State debt of over forty millions of dollars for the Republicans to liquidate, vote the Democratic ticket. Otherwise not.

THE Free Trade, Repudiation Cincinnati Enquirer says: "What is called Reform in Wisconsin means Democracy in Ohio." So it does in Pennsylvania. Remember it well, Republicans.

NUMBERS of Republicans in the South risk their lives rather than lose their ballots. Shall there be found any Republicans in Pennsylvania who are not even willing to take the trouble to go to the polls?

NO MORE United States bonds can be negotiated in Europe, should the result of the elections of next Tuesday prove favorable to the Democratic party. Every business man knows what that means. It means bankruptcy and ruin.

THE Republican party is the only hope of the country. It was its only support during the war, and it is its only safety in time of peace. The Democratic party stands ready to undo all that has been accomplished since 1861.

REPUBLICANS! Look out for "smooth-bore" tickets, gotten up to defeat Republican candidates, who happen to be obnoxious to certain classes or cliques. Expose those who attempt to distribute such fraudulent tickets at the polls.

DON'T pair off with Democrats and stay away from the polls. The game is one-sided, always; for the Democrat almost invariably slips quietly up and deposits his ballot, while the Republican honestly stands to his bargain and loses his vote.

WORKINGMEN! Remember that the most strenuous efforts made in this campaign by the Democracy, have been made to defeat those candidates who are directly from your own ranks, Mr. HUMPHREYS for the Senate, and Mr. ARCHBOLD for the House.

A LARGE body of Republicans neglected to go to the polls in Ohio and Indiana, and this neglect was the principal cause of the defeat which the Republican party sustained. Let the Republican voters of Pennsylvania take warning from the example.

ONE vote in the next Legislature may elect the next United States Senator. Hence the Republicans of Allegheny county will see the supreme necessity of electing the Legislative candidates of their party. Let no Republican in the county fail to cast his vote.

WE ARE informed that the men who do the dirty work for the Democracy have had printed all sorts of bogus tickets, by which they hope to entrap Republicans into voting for some of the opposition candidates. Scrutinize your ballots carefully before depositing them.

WE ARE informed, on good authority, that the Hon. THOMAS HOWARD, bolting candidate for Congress in the Twenty-second district, has sent a large bundle of "stickers" to the Democratic headquarters in this city for distribution. Republicans, be on your guard.

REPUBLICAN VOTERS, look to your Legislative districts! Remember that a United States Senator is to be elected next winter, and a great, loyal, patriotic Commonwealth like Pennsylvania must not have a Democrat in the United States Senate at Washington during the next six years.

DO NOT, under any circumstances, trade votes. Especially see to it that no Republican vote for Congressman is bartered away for any consideration whatever. If the Democrats gain control of Congress, those Republicans who aid them to do so, will have cause to regret their folly for years to come.

FREE Trade would inevitably ruin the vast manufacturing interests of Allegheny county, and render future employment for persons engaged in these industries impossible. The fact is as simple as the alphabet—or the duty of capitalists and workingmen to vote the full Republican ticket next Tuesday.

REPUBLICANS! Give to-day and Monday to the cause. You have a good ticket, and you have a State administration which has accomplished greater achievements in the payment of the State debt than any other in our history. Work, then, with a renewed vigor. Meet and overmatch the enemy at every point. Push your advantage along the whole line.

READ the letter of Gen. NEGLEY, in another column, in answer to Mr. HOPKINS' misstatements of his Tariff record. He effectually disposes of the false impressions sought to be created against him, by extracts from the official record. In addition to this, he prints strong indorsements of his Tariff record from Senator SCOTT and Representative KELLEY.

NO REPUBLICAN should forget the importance of securing the next Legislature. Not only is there a United States Senator to be elected, but State interests of very great importance will be affected, favorably or otherwise, by our success or defeat. Let nothing be left undone to carry the Allegheny delegation solid. All the candidates nominated are good men, and entitled to the undivided support of the party.

REMEMBER, Republicans, that a Democratic Legislature might possibly make JERE. BLACK, Attorney General of the United States during BUCHANAN'S administration—the lawyer who could find no authority in the Constitution of the country for coercing the rebellious States into submission, and the "patriot" who has placed himself on public record as desirous of seeing the Constitutional amendments put "in process of gradual extinction"—a Senator of the United States. Are you ready to incur this dishonor?

THE Democracy of Louisiana are pledging themselves not to employ any person who votes the Republican ticket. Should the Democracy obtain control of Congress, this sort of thing would unquestionably spread all over the South, and might very likely extend into many places in the North. What, under such a system, would become of the rights of the poor workingmen? They would be compelled to vote as their employers dictated, or starve. The proper way to put down this infamous Democratic plot against poor men's rights, and against the freedom of the ballot-box, is to vote for the candidates of the Republican party.

VIGILANCE COMMITTEES never had greater occasion for extreme watchfulness than they have now. The Democrats have printed "smooth-bore" tickets, in large numbers, and expect to palm these off upon unsuspecting Republicans on election day. These tickets are exceedingly dangerous, as they are gotten up in imitation of the genuine, and contain the names of all the Republican candidates except the one sought to be defeated. It is a contemptible device, intended to make an honest voter cast a ballot for a candidate in opposition to his party. The device is as dangerous as it is base, and if not detected and exposed may defeat some of our candidates.

HERE is what the Chicago Times, certainly no friend of the Republican party, feels itself compelled, in justice, to say with regard to a matter which we mentioned a day or two ago: "Foreign holders of United States bonds are fully aware of the danger that threatens them if Repudiation doctrines attain the ascendency, and have already been making inquiries as to the status of their investments in case the next Congress should contain a majority of Repudiationists." A number of these holders are represented as being greatly alarmed at the outlook, and seriously contemplate selling their bonds to whoever will buy them, at a considerable reduction from the original cost. The business men of Allegheny county will do well to ponder the significance of these ominous facts.

HOPKINS AND COCHRAN, STAND UP!

There is one question which we have to put to Messrs. HOPKINS and COCHRAN, as a test of the sincerity of their Tariff professions, viz.: Will you, if elected to Congress, vote for the Republican candidate for Speaker?

We know very well what their answer will be. They will respond, emphatically, No! And therein they will demonstrate the utter hollowness and insincerity of their Tariff declarations.

The legislation of Congress, it is well known, is in the hands of its committees. It must either originate with them or come through their hands. The Committee of Ways and Means has control of all financial legislation, and all Tariff bills must be molded and shaped by it. If the committee is hostile to Protection, then there is not the slightest possible chance of getting through any Protective legislation. The whole matter is absolutely within the power of the committee.

It is, of course, possible for the House to reverse the action of the committee, but that is so seldom done that it is safe to regard it as impracticable. The power of the committee is so great and certain that there is always a struggle on the part of contending interests to get control of it. The Free Traders have steadily aimed at this result, well knowing that, even if they could not carry their own measures through the House, they could, with the committee on their side, prevent all attempts at hostile legislation.

The committees of the House are appointed by the Speaker, under its rules. He can shape them as he pleases; and if he is a Democrat, he is morally sure to shape the Ways and Means Committee so as to suit the Free Traders.

Now, if such a calamity befal us as the election of such men as HOPKINS and COCHRAN, nothing is more certain than that they will both go into the Democratic caucus, and will both vote for the Democratic candidate for Speaker; and if the man they will vote for is elected, it is also certain that he will frame the committees in the interests of the Free Traders.

The Democratic candidate for Speaker of the present Congress was FERNANDO WOOD, an out-and-out Free Trader. If Messrs. HOPKINS and COCHRAN had been members of the present Congress, they would both have voted for WOOD, and they will vote, if now elected, for one equally as pronounced on the Free Trade issue. They cannot help it, even if they want to, and they will not help it, even if they can.

It is all very well, therefore, for such men to promise that they will vote for a Protective Tariff; but if they also vote for a Free Trade Speaker of the House, and so secure the appointment of a Free Trade Committee of Ways and Means, they are never likely to have the chance of successfully redeeming their pledges. They will tie their own hands, at first, by voting for a Free Trade Speaker, and all their after efforts will thereby be nullified.

Unless, therefore, these men will promise to vote for and secure, if possible, a Republican Speaker, it will be folly to elect them as Tariff men. That pledge, we are sure, they will not give; but, if they do give it, they will never be able to keep it. They have not the pluck, as we believe, to make it; and we know that neither of them has the pluck to redeem it.

There is nothing, therefore, to be gained by the election of either of these demagogues, and everything to lose. Put no confidence in them. Let no such men be trusted. The interests of Protection are much more safe in the hands of the Republican candidates than they possibly can be in the hands of their opponents; and he who trusts to the promises of such men will find that he is leaning upon a broken reed.

THE SECOND LEGISLATIVE DISTRICT.

In the Second Legislative district, composed of the first four wards and the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth wards of Pittsburgh, the Republican candidates for Assembly, JAMES ONSLOW and CHARLES JEREMY, are representative working men, and will, as they are entitled, have the support of the laboring class of which the district is to a great extent made up. They have both, unaided, made their way in the world, and from their own experiences are naturally in sympathy with all who labor.

To those who have known Mr. ONSLOW during the last decade, little need be said. Like all men he has his faults, but for character and ability he will compare favorably with many who are most conspicuous in abusing him. He received his education and learned his trade (that of a printer) at Meadville, within one hundred miles of Pittsburgh, and removed to this city about twenty years ago. His long residence here and his almost constant occupation as compositor, correspondent or editor, has made him thoroughly acquainted with the interest and the wants of the people of this district. He is a positive man, a thorough Republican and much attached to his friends; but has never been a street-corner politician. He has the education, intelligence and nerve to enable him to sustain a position after assuming it, and to render efficient service as a legislator. At the breaking out of the war of the Rebellion, Mr. ONSLOW, by his extensive acquaintance in the Western counties of the State, aided much in the organization of the Sixty-second Regiment of Volunteers, which was commanded by the gallant Colonel SAMUEL W. BLACK. Although offered a commission, Mr. ONSLOW remained a private in Company B of that noble regiment, and participated in some of the hardest fought and most important battles of the war. Mr. O. has fought his own battle in life, and is one of that class of men who deserve to be sustained and encouraged. His hard common sense, intimate knowledge of routine legislative business, and general acquaintance with the public men of the State, will give him an influence at Harrisburg as a representative, which must redound to the benefit of Allegheny county and the Second district. JAMES ONSLOW will compare favorably with any who have for years represented this district.

CHARLES JEREMY, a native of Wales, came to this city in 1852, and for want of means to follow his occupation as a butcher, he engaged in a South Side rolling mill as a puddler. Faithful labor and frugality soon enabled him to enter the business in which he had been brought up, and in this he continued until within a few years back. He then entered the glass manufacturing business, but retired after a disastrous fire, by which he was a heavy loser. In 1863 he was elected to the City Councils, where he served his constituency faithfully and energetically until recently. His return to Councils year after year by large majorities shows the esteem in which he is held. Mr. JEREMY has always been a hard-working man; all that he possesses having been earned by honest labor. So far as his means would allow, he has been a friend to the poor, and as an energetic persistent business man, has aided the growth and prosperity of our city.

We have every confidence that Messrs. ONSLOW and JEREMY will be elected by a handsome majority in the Second district.

A DEMOCRATIC victory means Free Trade. Free Trade means foreign competition. Foreign competition means low wages to our mechanics, little work and hard time. With our markets filled with the products of the half paid labors of Europe, how can American mechanics and working men expect to prosper? Shut out foreign competition by a Protective Tariff, and our markets will be supplied by our own manufacturers, wages will remain at a living figure, and prosperity will once again smile upon us. Workingmen of Allegheny county, of Pennsylvania, ponder these things well, and then go to the polls on Tuesday and vote the entire Republican ticket—State, Congressional and county.

ENGLAND wants to inundate the American market with raw material and manufactured articles, the products of half-starved and half-paid mechanics and laborers, male and female. If we are to have Free Trade, articles of European manufacture will flood our towns and cities, and the value of the labor of our own laborers and mechanics will be immensely depreciated. To us have the down-trodden working classes of other nations—the Irish, the Germans, the Welsh, the Scotch, and the English—come for the purpose of improving their condition. Now, if the pauper labor of the English and other foreign markets is allowed to come into competition with the labor of free American citizens, native and foreign born, where will be the gains to the immigrants who, beside the expenses they incurred for their outfit, braved the dangers of the deep with the view of finding a home and profitable work on this side of the Atlantic? Self-protection is the first law of nature; and this law should induce every workingman, whatever his nationality, to vote the full Protectionist Republican ticket next Tuesday.

THE voters of the Twenty-second district are charged with a heavy responsibility. The defeat of General NEGLEY by a Democrat would be most disastrous. It would be yielding up the citadel of Protection; it would be an ignominious surrender of the old guard, and leaving the whole American manufacturing interest unprotected—deserted by its original and most interested supporters; it would be a giving of this vital interest over unconditionally into the reckless hands of the Free Traders.

Should the friends of Protection elsewhere see themselves thus abandoned by the Pittsburgh district, made populous and opulent by the Protective system, they would feel that they were cruely deserted by their most trusted allies, and left defenseless to be destroyed by their worst enemies. Where could they look for assistance when thus betrayed?

This is said, not that we suppose there can be danger of so ruinous a folly being committed, but to call attention to a fatal possibility. Thunder-bolts have been known to fall from a clear sky. Forewarned, forearmed.

THE other day we mentioned the fact that the various Chambers of Commerce in the Eastern States were taking measures to secure a repeal or modification of the Tariff on wool and other products, and that they were bringing influences to bear upon the members of the Ways and Means Committee to that end. Should a Democratic Congress be elected, the farmers of Western Pennsylvania may rest assured that this Free Trade conspiracy would be successfully carried out. Every man in the country who is engaged in the sheep raising industry is directly interested in the defeat of the Democratic ticket.

THE Philadelphia Evening Bulletin tells the whole story in this brief paragraph:

"Nothing could possibly happen to the country at this time so profoundly disastrous as a return to Democratic rule. It is not merely abstract or uncertain questions of 'finance' that are at stake, vital as such questions are. It is to be determined whether the party that ruined in 1861 shall rule in 1874. It is to be determined whether President Grant shall be sustained by a Republican Congress, or be crippled and defied by a Democratic one. It is to be settled whether the terrorism that has dared to mutter its threats at the South even in the face of Republican rule shall blaze into violence and anarchy under a Democratic one."

SOLDIERS! You need not be reminded of the "dark days" of the war, when rebels were attacking you in front, and copperheads keeping up a fire in the rear. NEGLEY and BAYNE were then in the field; HOPKINS and COCHRAN were doing their "fighting" at home. They then pronounced your efforts to save the nation a failure, and if their party had had their way, the Union would have been disrupted. Now they want to legislate for the nation they would have destroyed ten years ago!

THE Democratic leaders always take advantage of the closing days of a campaign to put into circulation the most outrageous falsehoods concerning Republican nominees, knowing full well that the injured men will not have time before the election to trace them to their source. Our readers are warned against putting faith in any of the monstrous stories likely to be started between this time and Tuesday by the desperate Democracy.

Moulton has been allowed ten days more in which to answer the complaint of Miss Edna Dean Proctor. This means, most likely, that there will be a settlement of the case, and no trial.

Alex. H. Stephens recently said, in one of his almost innumerable speeches, that he had been instrumental in saving the lives of more negroes than any other one man in the State of Georgia. One particular instance he cited, where he saved the lives of three by rescuing them from the hands of an excited mob.

Leslie Coombs, of Kentucky, was recently summoned to recognize the handwriting of a Mr. Sudduth, who was a surveyor sixty years ago. He knew the man and knew the handwriting. The case will probably be decided by his testimony. The case involves some thirty-five hundred acres of land adjacent to the Bluegrass region.

Governor Beveridge, of Illinois, seems to be having trouble all around with the Browns. Governor Brown, of Tennessee, refuses to give up a citizen of the former State, named Smith; and Mayor Brown, of St. Louis, is building a dyke in the Mississippi, which throws the water to the Illinois shore, and washes away the land of Illinois citizens.

Rivermen, to Your Post of Duty!

Our great navigation interests were never more ably sustained in Congress than they have been by General Negley. He has given special attention to the subject, and understands it thoroughly in all its bearings. He has been instrumental in obtaining the largest appropriations that have ever been made to our river improvements. In the relief of our trade from the Louisville canal tax, Pittsburgh river business alone saves $150,000 a year.

As a member of the Committee on Commerce, General Negley has contributed efficiently to the preparation and passage of the most salutary measures for the improvement of our channels, for their protection against obstructions and for the improvement and safety of steam vessels engaged in the river trade. No man in Congress has more fully mastered all these subjects, or knows better how to make ample knowledge effectual in securing needful legislation.

Such useful qualifications are rare. When a Representative is found who possesses them, it is of the utmost consequence that his services should be retained, rather than that he should be exchanged for another, untried, unskilled and inexperienced. We, therefore, regard it as the imperative duty of all citizens of this Congressional district, interested directly or indirectly in the navigation of our rivers, to rally in support of General Negley. He is a faithful and vigilant Representative. His defeat would be a severe blow to our important interests, whilst his re-election would continue them under the guardianship of competent ability and intelligence.

GENERAL AND PARTICULAR.

October strews the woodland o'er
With many a brilliant color:
This world is brighter than before—
Why should our hearts be duller?
Sorrow and the scarlet leaf,
Sad thoughts and sunny weather;
Ah, me! this glory and this grief,
Why should they go together?

The Dictates of Common Sense.

Persons who in most things are prompt to obey the dictates of common sense, too often neglect them when they point to the necessity of promptly re-vitalizing the depleted body and the wearied mind. And yet how foolish and dangerous it is to neglect such monitions! Disease follows closely on the track of weakness and exhaustion. Arrest his silent but rapid stride by prompt invigoration. The most reliable agent that can be selected for this purpose is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a palatable bygeian elixir which possesses the true requisites for toning, regulating and tranquilizing both body and mind, and which is, besides, the chosen remedy of the American people for relieving weakness or disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels, as well as the numerous array of complaints which ultimately follow derangements of these organs.

EXTRAORDINARY BARGAINS!
IN Dry Goods,
AT ERWIN'S,
172 and 174
FEDERAL STREET, ALLEGHENY,
In consequence of our recent embarrassment, and to convert our large stock of goods into cash as rapidly as possible, we will offer for the next few weeks some Bargains that will be unprecedented in the history of the Dry Goods Trade.
Our Stock is unusually Full and Complete, and will be kept fully supplied with all the BEST BARGAINS IN DRY GOODS as they are offered in the Eastern Markets. It is a good time now to make purchases, as at no time for the last fifteen years have the prices of Dry Goods been so low as now.
We respectfully ask an examination of the Quality of our Goods and a comparison of our Styles and Prices with those of any other house in the Dry Goods Trade.

STEAM BOILERS, &C.

ECLIPSE
BOILERS!
Stationary, Portable and Marine
5 to 1,000 Horse Power.
The advantages over other Boilers secured by the Eclipse are:
First—Safety from risk of destructive explosion.
Second—Economy in Space and Fuel.
Third—Durability of Material.
Fourth—Convenience of access to every part.
Fifth—Simplicity of Furnace. Connections and Construction.
Sixth—Perfect Circulation of Water.
Seventh—Freedom from Expansion, Strains and Leaks.
Eighth—Effective circulation attained by the use of small, large diameter tubes.
Eclipse Steam Generators are adapted to heavy or light pressure, high or low pressure, or steady and unequal work.
The fittings are made of Semi-Steel; the Tubes are lap-welded, the double incline of which gives a rapid and powerful circulation of water. Our Boilers are sectional; and a perfect arrangement for expansion and contraction. The Sectional Form allows the Boiler to be increased, diminished or divided without damage to parts, and the improved Lock-Nut does away with caulking, packing or gaskets.

FINANCE AND TRADE.

FRIDAY EVENING, October 30, 1874.

There is perhaps a little more activity in local monetary circles than there has been for some days past, although at the centers of some of the banks they complain of the continued dullness. Whether or not there is any increased animation in business circles, it is certainly true that money is not superabundant, and the brokers report that they are not asked to show their stock of paper whenever they enter a bank parlor, as was the custom six weeks ago. The exchange market is reported as easing up somewhat and that the supply, by careful husbanding is equal to the demand, without the necessity of shipping bank notes. In ordinary times the banks complain of the unavoidable accumulation of money in Cincinnati and Chicago, but now the balances seem to work the other way. The fact that Pittsburgh has shipped no coal for six months, and that there is $1,500,000 locked up in coal mined and afloat ready for shipment, is sufficient in itself to account for the balance of trade running in favor of the lower river cities.

In New York, the stock market is unchanged as to condition and almost as to prices as reported for the last few days. Although stocks are for the most part firm during dull business, activity usually brings lower prices which some account for in the fact that the general disposition of the market is towards lower quotations until after election. There is undoubtedly a good deal of hesitation amongst those inclined to buy both in stocks and bonds, which fact leads to dull business and leaves the market to the control of speculative brokers. After election day, next Tuesday, we may look for more activity and a better market. Business men will be settled down and results being known there will be no bugbears for the operatives to work on.

—A correspondent asks if the general election day is not a legal holiday, made so by an act of Assembly during the last session, to which we reply that the only legislation on that subject of last session was the act of May 25, 1874, (P. L., page 222,) making Decoration Day a legal holiday, and that we are not aware of any other legislation on the subject since the act of April 2, 1873.

—The bankruptcy case of Jay Cooke & Co. has at last assumed such a phase that the trustee and the advisory committee will be enabled to proceed with the settlement of the estate without further interruption. It will be remembered that Judge Cadwalader called a second meeting of the creditors under the 37th and 38th sections of the Act of 1867. The trustee denied the power of the Court to order such meeting, and appealed the case to the Circuit Court. The case was argued before Judge McKennan and Justice Strong some time since, and we now have the opinion of the Court as filed by Justice Strong. By this he reverses the order of Judge Cadwallader calling a second meeting of the creditors, and holds that under the forty-third section of the Bankrupt law the winding up, settlement and distribution of the assets of the estate was committed to the trustee, under the inspection and direction of the committee of creditors, and that their directions can not be controlled, either by the Court or by the creditors, unless the trustee and the committee of creditors are shown to be guilty of some bad faith.

TWENTY-FIFTH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

BROOKVILLE, PA., October 26, 1874.

The canvass in this Congressional district is waxing hot. The Democrats, who are trying to force the candidate into a seat in Congress, on the grounds of morality and Christian graces, seem to think that lying is not one of the sins for which the wicked are to be sent to the Lake of Fire and Brimstone, and are still going ahead with their lies against General White.

The last lie circulated is that he was so drunk at the time he was to speak at East Brady, that he could not attend the meeting. This is being circulated by the warmest friends of Mr. Jenks, when they know that at the meeting mentioned he appeared and delivered one of the best speeches of the campaign. No man was ever maligned like Gen. White. They can say nothing against his political record, so they attack and lie about his personal and private character.

The most of these charges of drunkenness originated with Brown, of the Clarion Democrat, and I here say the charges are false, and the man who originated them lies, and he knows it. Republicans, don't believe anything that comes from this source, as you now know that Brown is the most reckless villifier and the bitterest and dirtiest copperhead in this district, and he has no respect for truth or decency.

General White was approached by some parties who wanted money for him to run. The General was told by his friends to keep hands off, as probably he could not leave him whenever some other party bid higher. Some of these parties are now opposing White, and it is pretty safe to say that you will find a leading Republican working against White, he has either been bought by the Democrats or some one could not bid high enough White.

That the Democrats are distributing money freely to elect their member of Congress does outside of a doubt, for I know of a leading Republican who was offered $500 merely to be neutral on the Congressional candidates, and I do know that the only professional gambler in Jefferson county is out-and-out for Mr. Jenks for Congress.

If White is such an impure man as they say, he is certainly not favored with the support of the vile men of the district, as every one knows he shows no sympathy for men who engage about a town and eat up the pensions of soldiers' widows and orphans. Let Democrats talk and write about the purity of their candidate for Congress, but they should be careful that their chief supporter with the whisky hat when he gets among decent men at the mouth of Red Bank, does not operate against White on the grounds of his voting for local option. We do know that this fellow was sent to the Legislature by the votes of Mr. White's district, on the ground that White had voted for local option, and as a proof that such was the fact, he cited that Democratic school and the Bible as for White. How is this, my Republican friends?

Another cause for disappearance of people, White is said to be a terribly wic
